

BPL is not a system that needs to radiate RF signals to do its job, it would be an unintentional radiator. It's a system going point to point via wires, not a system that uses isolated boxes (radios) that communicate via RF "over the air". Thus there is no reason why we (amateur radio) would have to share spectrum with BPL.